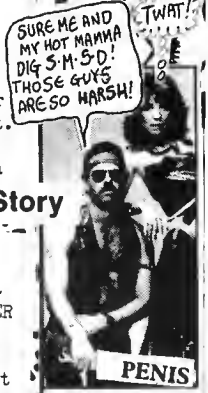
S.M.5.D is totally committed to the revolution. With our music and our economic genius we plunder the unsuspecting straight world for money and the means to carry out our program, and revolutionisa its children at the same time. And with our entranca into the straight madia we have demonstrated to the honkies that anything they do to fuck with us will be exposed to their children. You don't need to get rid of all the honkies, you just rob them of their replacements and let their breed atrophy and die out, with its heirs cheering triumphantly around it. We don't have guns yet – not all of us anyway – because we have more powerful weapons – direct access to millions of teenagers is one of our most potent, and their belief in us is another. But we will use guns if we have to – we will do anything – if we have to. We have no illusions."

Roll out the barrels of fizzy pop! Put up the bunting!Make the fisn paste sandwiches and lets have a party!!Bristol may soon have its own HALFPIPE.Yes,we tell no porky pies. The well known drunkard pub,The FLEECE + FIRKIN is going to put the money up for a mini ramp.They are going to hold a skate demo on their premises on JUNE 10th and have commissioned the king of ramp constr -uctors VARIFLEX VERNON to build it. After the demo,it will be stored temporarily,at the pub until a perma -nent place of rest can be found. Well, yahoo say all of us..... Less good news is that the ramp at t the local witn-it hot spot BEDMINSTER is still well broken.No ammount of phone calls or letter writing, seems to be able to get those old communist fuddy-duddies at the council to be able to do anything.And, of course, the boring old shits, wont let anyone else fix it, so will it be bye-bye to BRISTOLS favorite ramp?,we hope not.. Onto the music...The SEERS,Bristol's acid casualties rockers,are about to be signed up to E.M.I!!...Well, nearly. An E.M.I. A+M man has been to one of



And Now The Easter Bunny Story

"Da fraud! Da cheat! Da wrath of grapes!" the angry drinkers swore, their wild "Love in" type gigs and he was suitably impressed.Sellout?never. ....This issue featured raunch out skater Eric Dressen who proved himself to be a good egg in the eyes of all local skaters,with sex appeal and a down to earth attitude,he produced the meanest street tricks,even after much pilsner lager.Good on yer Eric! A round of applause and a bunch of roses you old dog...Hurry back Eric, the girls are missing you...While on the subject of foreign dudes, 3 ambassadors of sassy soul skating from Vancouver,paid us a lengthy visit recently.All belonging to the legendary JAKS TEAM(who count TONY ALVA amongst their crew)tney certainly showed us limey fat boys something. We impressed tnem with our Devilish cider and the ability to skate,with nothing on but a smile.They impressed us with huge rail slides,massive ollies and the ability to drink crates of very cheap beer,without being sick on the dog....RIPCORD local hardcore act have been back biting + bitching again. They were over heard to be very verbal about Northern punk outfit CITY OF INDIANS. Certainly,Ripcord were heard to compare C.O.I. to a cheap copy of them twats Conflict and a bunch of s sour faced puritans".Come on lads hardcore can do without attitudes like that!!....

News has come to us that skate bible THRASHER has got a new writer units team. Also he is not a million miles away from the S.M.S.D. Editorial Commitee.Well eee by gum,we have real talent in our midst or is it real money with which this ageing HACK has put the way of certain glossy yank mags HMMM!!...Who was that well known drummer seem drinking,womanising and generally falling about at a recent BRISTOL party?Could he have been in that very well known "straight edged" outfit the S....D'S, or then again,we and 50 other witnesses could have had a tempo- rary brain blitz and started hallucinating. That was what this certain drummer claims happened...Yes,I'm sure that must be it... Finally, anyone fancy a fun day/cometition/ gathering?Yes we hear all the kids cry! So do we cry the SMSD staff(Well,we work sooo hard...)Well people,send in ideas, dates,locations,etc to this magazine and we can all try and sort something out for the summer sometime OK Bye-bye people for now.

'You English have no sense of humour. Americans know that everything we write is just the biggest joke ever.

Shock horror hellfaced news this month is the home of UK Skateboarding, the mighty SOUTH BANK may soon be closed down! Argh wailing and nashing of teeth, can this be true? Our sources sat that the local authorities are getting well cheesed off with the near 24 hour skating of this well-used spot, and also they do not approve of all the homeless people kipping there at night. There has been some tension between the skaters and the "Cardboard box people" as they are known, but most of the time people manage to sort out their problems. But now, the council want to brick the place up, tell the skaters where to get off, and unload the homeless people onto another neighbouring council, What is to be done? Watch these pages for further action...

Still in London, four skaters were recently nicked for daring to skate the crusty old banks at KINGS CROSS TUBE STATION. The railway police heavy-shit-nasty guys, threatened to confiscate there boards as well. Not very civil behaviour towards a group of youngsters just out for a bit of healthy fun. But you have been warned, so run like fuck if you get caught!!.... Whoops we got it wrong.. (what a snock, ed) Last ish, we told you that slam city skates where building a ramp and that it was just about finished Not quite true, Slam City might build a ramp, if they can give loads of money to a community trust. This is because commercial ventures, such as skate shops, can't build skate ramps on public land. They have to work with local type groups so that the council don't smell commercial interest. So, no new ramp in West London as yet, and also the reason why there are not more groovy ramps around..

Was that the singer of OI POLLOI, spotted in an Edinburgh newsagents buying very adult disapline magazines, or was it his twin brother wearing his clothes....

The STUPIDS have uprooted themselves from C.O.R records and signed to Indie giants VYNIL SOLUTION. They have produced a real cool-out single (on RED plastic no less) which should be just out by the time you fumble threw this.. In addition to this, they have a mini lp in the pipeline, which contains a terminally cool hip-hop track which will outrage every strait-laced punk from here to 'Frisco... love it... love it!!... sheltering under the guise of DIG. This alternative "Capitalist" has got it into his head that he is a real businessman and has started charging 30% interest on loans to friends and what are now ex-friends. Tut-tut Mr Dig (or should we say "Big) money isn't everything! Think about your street-cred. While we're having a moan, a Norwegian friend of ours, brings us a sorry tale. He went up to the E.S.A. competition at the WARRINGTON RAMP near Manchester. As night approached he had not found or been offered a single place to crash that night, and he had to sleep on a railway embankment. Come on Warrington skaters, surely you can offer a bit more Northern hospitality than that? eh?..... A ramp at KENSINGTON in London is due for completion at the beginning of June and by all accounts, has a metal surface, talk about death skating... New structures that have come to our attention are at SWANSEA, CARDIFF, WATFORD, BRAUTOW and the LEISTERSHIRE/NOTTINGHAMSHIRE border. If you live near these, check them out and send us a review or some lies, about them, OK. Oh, and finally that west country wonder, the Worscester ramp, is now open sundays .....Well, bye-bye cuties and hang onto your shorts until next time....

YES FOLKS! I SURVIVED THE WIND+SURF EXPO CAPER WITH MY STREET CRED STILL INTACT!!

Well, I'd seen all the big glossy posters around various cities with a nice big sexy skateoarder on it and the promise of a competition. Cee, my first comp, I wonder what it would be like, would I be cool? Would my breath be fresh...?We arrived on the first day that was open to the public, with M.C. Sean the dutch plant emperor, at my side, all ready to kick some bottom. But Aghast!! THREE bastard pound FIFTY to get in!! We decided it was time for some serious sneakin' in, luckily we bumped into some Brighton skatebrothers, who supplied us with some ticket stumps and Bingo! we were in...Well, what greeted us was an array of stalls flogging all the latest surf and wind surf gear, and lots and lots of bouncy surfies with bronzed mamas, it was more like a department store, than an exhibition. Very much daunted, we made our way to the skate area of the hall. This consisted of 10 or so stalls of the biggest skateshops out and a juicy looking ramp(20ft high, six or seven foot trans.) that had been constructed by Ocean Pacific Clothing and E.S.A., big enough we thought. After slugging around a bit, we breezed over to Tony'Rollermanias' stall to find he was not a happy man, having paid for fab dogtown skater ERIC DRESSEN to come over and skate at this comp, he was informed by Ocean Pacific, the sponsors, that young eric, could not skate on the ramp- unless he wore Ocean Pacific Clothes. Eric told them to "Fuck right off" cos he'd lose his job with his sponsors, well what a bloody stupid situation to get into! Big business, dont you just love it!!Already twinges of bad feeling were creeping in BRRANGG The sound of brass disco music filled the place, and the assembled audience stared disbelieving at what took to the half-pipe cum stage. On pranced a dozen or so poofy model girlies, dressed up in expensive surf gear. There they were jiggiling bits of their body to the zombie beat, as a woman with a BBC announcers voice, told us" Our loverely models are now wearing the latest line in O.P. clothing Blan, Blah, Yuk, puke, pass the bucket this way dear....This was obviously aimed at the trade, but I can tell you, the kids were not impressed. After all this, on bounds some bread-head and announces, "Boys and girls, Ocean Pacific present the cream of U.K skaters" on comes some heavy speed metal, and off go the skaters, Hendricks and Goff and 7 other skaters, who, proceed to rip up the half pipe. Goff was really outstanding, with some mean 3 or 4 foot lein airs and plenty of tail slapping tricks. The crantock ramp skater really stole the snow for me, with a real tough grinding approach and lots of falling off, plenty of 'go for it' here. All this is very well, but where is the competition? the pop kids ask! Ah ha, an E.S.A.O.P. fuck up here, there is no competition, there never was! Who put on the poster that there was? Nobody knows, what a bleedin liberty!This whole thing was basically, some demonstration skating to advertise crappy O.P. clothes. The kids had forked out 3.50 each to look at a load of stalls flogging skate gear, some pouncy models, and a 10 minute skate demo, the words RIP-OFF scream into our minds.....

Epilogue; ERIC DRESSEN, did manage to get a skate on the ramp, but we think he goes back to the U.S. with a bad impression of organised english skating. The day after the snow had packed up and pocketed its loot, a piece of graffiti had appeared, Meanwhile Two skate park "FUCK O.P. FUCK THE E.S.A., KEEP BIG BUSINESS OUT OF SKATING". We reckon the pop kids are definately not pleased...

A TA-TAA-TATE WITH ERIC DRESSEN

LIKE WOW!! MAN. A WORLD EXCLUSIVE!

Eric at play

You know ERIC DRESSEN! the dog town skater!San Francisco! Course you do!Well, S.Muties squadron managed to corner this US Pro at the wind and surf expo, and we tried to interview him after plying nim with cneap imported beer and back issues of S.M.5.D, we managed to ply this interview out of the culture-shocked americ -an:-

QI-So Eric, now you've been in the U.K. for a while, whats your genera -l impression?

A.Everythings been really cool, except for the scene at Alexandra palace, that really fucked me out. Bristol is the raddiest place out, (O.K. take the knife away from eric's throat-ED) like it's really fun.Skatin' in London is cool, but I did'nt have anyone to take me around, so it could have been kinda better.

Q2.What do you think of our luverly english weather?

A.Rather chilly(laughs), it gives m me a runny nose!

Q3.Do you like our olde english tea? at this point, his minder Olly, butts in and tells us how he likes to dri -nk it thru a straw...

A. Yeah, thats right thru a straw (ne chuckles), its best cold.(no bloody culture these americans).

Q4.What sorta skating are you into at the moment then?

A.Everything!I don't consider the differences,I just dig skating with good people,Bristol skaters have a really good attitude.

Q5.Does being sponsored make a lot of difference, do people creep round you?Does it alienate you?

A.Its not the skaters that keep me apart, it's the sponsors!They sorta seperate from other skaters.I skate for fun y'know, I don't skate to compete against other guys.

SKATE FOR "JOLLY FUN"

Q6.What do ya think of our good ole english beer?

A.I love it!!Pils are the best (obviously not seen a can of stella!!)

Q7.Would you like to come back some time?

A.Love to! I'd love to come back. Like, in London, you can just pull over and skate, theres so many skat -eable places.Theres so much better potential for skating, like in Venice, theres only one bank and no one really skates it anyhow.

Well eric old cnap, thanks for the interview and hope all goes well in venice.Talking of that part of L.A., Eric told us that it's not really a poor area full of puerto rican gangs- as we had imagined- but a pretty po -sh place!Also, hardly any U.S. pro's live off they're skate earnings, most have part-time jobs to survive. Eric told us he's a waiter,well, who would have thought it eh?Cor blimey I don't know...price of eggs...

HEY KIDS, Worn out ooard, ground down trucks, wheels like pyramids? Tough shit. No, Seriously, lifes just like that, one minute you're there VARIAL INVERT, the next you're slamming on 6ft of solid trans with both you and your board ending up like the wreck of the hessbruss. Well, the answer to all of your problems has arrived! Just send all your little gripes and moans to Doc Rudie Mallard.... or....

ASK THE QUACK

HEY DOC, the other day whilst skating on my favorite patch, a reckless driver knocked me flying, fracturing my skull and breaking both of my legs in the process. Imagine my surprise when the driver opened his car door and offered me a drink from his half empty whiskey bottle before staggering off to get help. It's nice to know that people are still kind, considerate and helpful. I am now recovering well, in the intensive care unit of the local infirmary.

DOC, I have found that at my local sports shop, for a mere £173 you can purchase a skateboard of some distinction. Not only was it value for money, but it lasted three weeks before it fell apart. Since then I have purchased four more boards and they all have been as good as the first.

P.S. The paintings on the bottom were good too.

PSYCHO SID

Well sid, (or is it Psycho), it may surprise you to know that there are shops all around the country that specialise in skateboards and assesories. I, myself know of at least one, and I'm sure other readers out there have bumped into one once or twice. Hang loose.

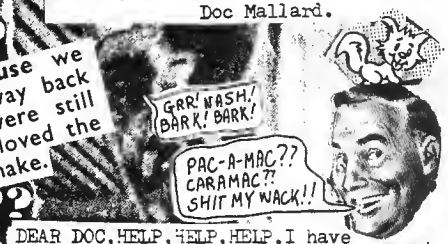
Doc Mallard.

DOC, While out riding my board the other day, I hit a small stone. The ooard stopped abruptly and I was sent skidding and slidding across the road. Upon coming to my senses, I discovered that my elbows and knees were somewhat grazed and bloodied, isn't it strange that in this day and age, with men on the moon and the cure for cancer just around the corner, we still have trouble keeping our pavements clean.

Puzzled
Lancs.

Makes ya think.

Doc Mallard.



DEAR DOC, HELP, HELP, HELP, I have recently purchased a set of wheels (for quite a fair price, I may add) but upon placing them on my board all they do is squeak. The noise is extremely embarrising to both me and my friends and my fellow skateboard compatriots, have since banned me from our halfpipe. Help doc, I'm desperate.

Ratty
Notts.

Hey Ratty, Relax for I have the cure. Us here at the Muties, have had on several occasions, the same proolem. We have found that several leeches when attached to the unfettered offending wheel, left overnight, in a reasonably warm enviroment - always does the trick.

Skate hard. Doc Mallard.

DO-IT-YOURSELF HOME PROJECTS and HELPFUL HINTS from the MUTLES

HANDY HINTS FOR STUPID SKATERS

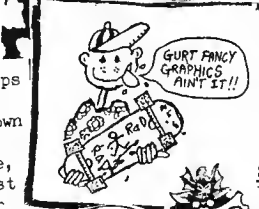
If you had the brains to buy a copy of "S.M.S.D", you will have seen the article titled "A guide to First time buyers" which a squadron member deemed suitable to rip-off from a E.S.A. newsletter. Now, we thought theres a load of Cons, handy tips and general like, awareness that we could tell you. So out of our vast pool of Skaters knowledge, we have gathered together a few titbits of info for all you new boys and girls out there.

If you have to buy grip tape, only buy, at the maximum 1ft. Although this may not look a great deal under the harsh lights of a skate store, it will do well enough. Just slice it up with an old pair of scissors, into lots of pretty patterns and slap it down on the deck, in a manner pleasing to the eye. If you have any spare, you can save it to replace bits that get worn out by extensive thrashing.

HAND-CRAFTED FROM MATERIALS OF THE FINEST QUALITY

Change your rubbers and nipple cups regularly, crumbs, that sounds a bit rude en kids. They do wear down quicker than you imagine and new rubbers move better and therefore, should make you skate better- inst -ant improvement for under two quid! Bargain basement or what!!

If youre, like, a completely reckless nutter and go and get your bearings wet by trying to skate a swimming bath, then worry!!! Bearings will rust dead quick, and they do cost up to £16 a set. The snappy solution to this is, whip them out of the wheel as quick as you can and give them a good blast with the old hair dryer, this should stop the jack rust from setting in. If your bearings wear out, then go and buy a new set you stingy bastard! They cost a fraction of the price of a new set of wheels and you will really notice the differ -ence. As confucious was once heard to utter "Your wheels are only as good as your bearings", or something like that.



Jimmy Saville is a virgin.

Wash your grip tape! It may sound sissy and posy, but honestly, it will make it last longer, also it gives more grip when clean and it looks more, sorta, ...well, pretty. Wash in a solution of washing up liquid and piping hot water, clean with your worst enemies toothbrush. Set about it and whistle a happy tune... ——

It all started when I woke up in the Lab and saw this hunch-back laughing at me. I Try not to have any annoying rattles on your board as subconsiously (wow man) this will tend to irritate you. Also, a good hard boneless feels groovier when you just get the crack of the wheels on concrete and not loads of rattling like some old bonesnaker.

Turn your front two mounting boards upside down. Yes, you read right, change them around and saw off the bit of bolt sticking out. This will give you more grip on the front of the board and hopefully, will stop the old foot slipping off.

STUFF TO AVOID - We name names! Varilex products, for a few quid more, you can get really good stuff. NASH RED LINE, revoltingly tiwanese rubbish to be avoided like the plague! Don't buy trucks that feel heavy and have no name printed on them, wheels as a rule, are usually crap if they are shiny, the same goes for shiny aluminium trucks, they truly suck the horses penis.

STUFF TO BUY

Decks; The best companies are:- ALVA, POWELL + PERALTA, VISION, SANTA CRUZ, SIMS.

Wheels; Stick to the well known companies, if you can, look in Thrasher and see what the pros ride. The numbers after the name of the wheels are a measurement of how hard the wheel is. 85A is mucho soft and 97A is like

Dear Muties(Blads)
In issue 2, yous slagged off various topics and people. Well, for one I've never heard or seen any of Anti-sect take drugs(bar the odd joint)so what gives you the right to call them heroin addicts eh! Also you slag off the vocalist from Heresy(I cant stand them)a americanised singer, well what are the stupids then, boring prats trying to be one of the lads cause otherwise they'd get nowhere. What bunch of twats would take the piss out of the disabled for a record cover eh! Big man attitudes suck shit! (WHat A HYPOCRITE!, I'm not sure that I LiKe Your SLag oFf reFerance TO womEns GenItalS darling-ED) Also, Bear is one hell of a prick swapping his punk ways for american shit(is that mail order rebels or what!)and his boring shitface attitudes. Well, this is all I'm gonna write and if you got the balls(WhAT A sEXisT YOu aRe To aSSume All oF us ARe MEn-ED)you'll print this and any smarmy comments you add to this letter. Why don't you tell me to my face or is that not trendy. By the way, I also skate, but I dont use it as a pose or something to alter my attitudes to people as I hate all this american dress and so called hardcore music. If you wanted to be one why not vote for Reagan and the Klu klux klan and nuclear weapons eh!

P.S. Dont take the piss out of bands like Deviated instinct etc for using nuclear war as subjects for song as if thats the case what about the Cre Mags etc you twats, cause Lunatic Fringe were a bunch of wankers and dont rate as goodly as anyone nowadays. Death to americanized skaters.

Dear Skate Muties
Look this is getting beyond a joke! Deviated Instinct have never written a letter to you, so what the fuck was that letter doing in issue 2. Come on! We dont care what you say about us in yourr, what we think is a, highly amusing mag. So whoever wrote that letter(and it better not be any of you muties!)leave it out, we can talk for ourselves. We dont need wind up merchants to do it for us.

Homebrew and Love
Dave from Deviated Instinct

Muties???
I'm a bristol skater who has been a skatin' for about 2½ years or so. I've built a couple of street ramps in my time, but have not built one that has given me that perfect launch ?3/!!6*!?
Ive heard that Io' transitions are good. Please put a decent set of measurements and transitions in the long awaited 3rd edition of your F'tastic F'zine.

Alchohol Skater whos well pissed off at the state of our skate parks.

SM5D-Well, um err, our ramp building mutie says "As an expert I'd say that 3ft high is the ideal street ramp with a 3ft girth and a 4ft trans and if argues, I shall hit them with my special ramp builders hammer."

Raspberry-scented French wine-gums on a string

Dear(wot a joke)SM5D
Just a quick note to say that anyone to do with this zine is a wanker. Why do you slag off Deviated Instinct for speaking their minds?? If punk was full of people like you, it would be just like it woz bak in the 70's full of hatred and agression. Why do you ignorant fuckers take the piss out of bands who sing about important issues(nuclear war, animal abuse)? Is it just coz they dont sing about pieces of wood with wheels? As far as we are concerned you can all F.O.A.D, hardcore doesn't need you and your pathetic morals(if you have any)and ideas. I will never buy this shitrag again. You care about no-one but yourselves. I am also disapointed to see that gabba and chaos(ChaosUK)have been brainwashed into this stupid fuckin craze.

Yours with disapointment

PENIS VARIATION IN PRE-COLUMBIAN YORKSHIRE BY WEIGHT AND VOLUME

KARMA NAUSEA
Not too impressed by this. In Thrasher last year, they said this was the best of the crop of U.S. zines. God knows what the rest were like. Still, it is rough and ready and fun to look at, even though it takes no more than a minute to read from cover to cover. Still worth a buck for the huge list of U.S fanzines in it.
($1, Fanzine print, 2927, Old 37N, II, Bloomington, IN, 47401)

BMX ACTION
Well, we finally forked out the 85p for this glossy mainstream magazine and to our huge surprise it is very good. The features on Wind + Surf and Eric Dressen, where well written and jape-full and the general lay-Out was stylish and "young". Will make a good national magazine if only it is a bit more rude and daring. Tres bien!
(Glossy Print, Available in most large W.H.Smiths).

GURK
Not seen this one yet, but we here it contains hardcore, cartoon funnies, reviews and mad-cap humour. Some do say it is a bit samey, but we can't pass judgement ....yet.
(20p, Fanzine print, 17 Thornwood Court, Carlisle rd, Buxton, Derbyshire)

TONY ALVA'S TEETH
Finally got our hands on a copy of this and we were suitably impressed. Plenty of stupidity, cut ups and biased opinions and dare we say, rip-offs of SM5D!! we care not it is well good and worth at least half of the 25p cover price.
(No.1, Fanzine print, 43, Hartley rd, Kirkby, Ashfield, Notts, NG17 8DP).

THRASHER
Now up to 1.75 an issue but worth every pissin penny. More hi-tech than ever with adverts taking up more and more space. But we care not as they are as good a the writing if not better. The june issue has features on the MEAT - -MEN, AUSTIN, TEXAS and UPLAND PIPELINE.
(Glossy print, £2inc.p+p. from SM5D)

GUILTY FACE 3
A well produced fanzine from the U.K which covers nothing but U.S hardcore Interesting as it is, it gives us limey perspective on the U.S.A. and its music We suspect it is written by a communist hater or a bad piss taker as the man hates the far left and anything remotely anarchistic. Worth sending off for and totally unlike the run of the mill zines.
(30p, fanzine print, 2a, Paget terrace, Penarth s.Glam. CF6 1DR).

VARIABLE TRANSITION
Another as yet unseen fanzine, all skating though with plenty of pretty pictures and fictional writing.
(30p. Fanzine print, adress as yet, but who cares anyway.)

MONEY STINKS
Totally hand written zine. Quite an achievement these days, but it makes it hard to read and frankly boring. Mostly hard-core/punk stuff with a bit of skating thrown in for good measure. Not too hot.
(Free, fanzine print, Steve III Farningham rd, Caterham, Surrey.)

Crappo fanzine of the month was; 666½ fanzine from Cheshire, other than that, we did not get any abysmal zines. What the piggin hell happened to all the no No Hopers. Come on you guys, send us your garbage for a good slag-off, you know you love it.

HYPE of the MONTH!

Yes, this up and coming Tyneside pop group are the subject of this months groovy column. We recieved a free copy of their album "WHERE HAVE ALL THE CHILDREN GONE", thru the post the other day and frankly, we were stunned. Stunned that a band from such a depraved Northern area have enough cash to give away an album willy-nilly. This up and coming outfit, fronted by two gorgeous pouting singers, are obviously frantic for any kind of publicity for their new product, so here is some. Out of the three person review panel, one person dozed off listening to it, one was convinced it was Vice Squad and the other one fell in love with it (well, the pretty cover anyway). Well anyhow, thanks for the freebie DAN, the two pounds fifty we got for it, bought us a round of drinks and some crisps, so your noble effort was not entirely wasted.

GAYE BIKERS ON ACID
THE MC ALLISTERS BRISTOL

well, hot dinkum. This was the third time those northern bastards GBOA whe -re due to play in bristol, and by the goatee beard of satan, this time, they turned up. The previous two times, they had blown out Bristol in favour of more prestigious suppo -rt slots with the CULT, which is perfectly understandable to me, but had not pleased the local pop kids. Our gang entered the tacky tropic things were bad. Then, when I found a mirror, it was worse.

club, with a cheap electronic door-bell in our possesion. Our intention was to incite a stage invasion and then drive the Gaye boys insane, by playing the doorbell over and over again. Well, that was the plan. It was a packed club that greeted us tonigh -t, with most of the Bristol low-life turning out. The piss lager was running freely as the McAllisters took to the stage. A bad PA Mix stole what little talent they possess -ed. They proved themselves to be the usual sentimental poppy garbage that most Bristol groups seem to want to produce. Jesus Christ, have none of these bands got any balls! The crowd should have attacked them with table legs, but instead they drank more lager. Meanwhile, we had gone back-stage to do some damn good ligging.

THE STUPIDS
BAD DRESS SENSE
RIPCHORD NOTTINGHAM BATH

Hurrah the STUPIDS are in town one more time. I've got six pounds in pocket and enough energy to slam dance with Marvin Hagler. As fate would have it I had been conned into being chief money collector and bouncer for tonights show, so most of the evening was spent arguing with half-wit punks about why they should pay to get in. Oh well, I did manage to milk off a enough money to keep me in STELLA ARTOIS for the night, so I ain't gripping brothers and sisters....Venue for tonights show was Long Acre Hall in that rustic west country town BATH. The perfect spot for this genre of show, with no breakables and a non-existant stage.... RIPCHORD opened the show tonight with their brand of squeaky clean Hardcore. These five ruddy faced chaps are getting tighter, sharper and more hardnosed every time I catch them. They really whipped the participating thrashers into a frenzy of dumb boy dancing. Boy these cider harderned rough necks really know how to open a show in RIP roaring fashion!!...BAD DRESS SENSE came next but to my deepest regret I was entertaining two spammmy young ladies so I only caught two(aud a dose of something nasty). The group hed a poppy feel about them which seem to amuse most of the gathered audience. One more thing though, they sported the most geek out drummer I have ever seen, I'll tell ya, that guy would bring severe brain danger to any onr I knows....BAD DRESS SENSE they'll put you off sex for life....B.G.K. availed themselfs to us next. Previously I had snatched a listen of their last aloum "Nothing can go Wrong" and had been totally unimpressed. But, like wow man, they really shredded some shit this night.

They blew away the two previous bands with their own brand of European brain busting punk/core. Really was surprised by this DUTCH outfit, only trouble is their album still sounds bloody crap.....Hay ho.....

At this point in the proceedings their was a long break as the STUPIDS manager tried to drag the band out of the nearest Mc Donalds.

Me and a good friend had in our pocession a horribly good Hip Hop tape which we tried to get the old hippie P.A. man to play, but the old duffer would have none of it so we had to content ourselfs with a bit of small time drug dealing. Half way through a very lucrative Crack deal I heard the opening chords of a STUPIDS song. We left the ten year old kid with the drugs and forced our way to the front of the dribbling throng. Being a hellishly fervrant STUPIDS fan they could do no wrong in my eyes. They trail blazed their way through nearly all their recorded works with new vocalist ED SHRED handling the big brute like crowd very nicely. Bodies geeked out at the front frantic with stupidity all narrowly missing the hippie P.A. man who was guarding his mouldy old monitors from us fresh faced pop kids...Like, crazy man... The climax came with the band performing a Root Beer crazed version of the BEASTIES "You gotta fight for the right to Party!", which had all our young little dicks stiffening with excitment. Well this was enough for most people as they ran screaming to catch the last train to sanity, namely BRISTOL. Cool people i.e. me ligged around till the end, cadged loads of stickers and a lift home. I left with a ringing in my ears and a few shillings in my pocket. What could be better??

It was cold. Icebergs are like that.

straight forward kind of music. Bugger the americans, Europe is where its at baby. A very hard-nosed album.
(AUTO DA FE RECORDS, 41 DES GOBELINS, 75013 PARIS, FRANCE.)

BAD BEACH"CORNUCOPIA"L.P.

Inovative stuff here. The singer sounds like a very young and angry Pete Murphy of Bauhaus. The music is hardcoreish, but then again not! Very hard to pin down any musical style here. Must say that its a thoroughly juicy album especially good for drinking cheap beer to. The thumbs up, I think.

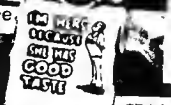
SCHOOLY D"SATURDAY NIGHT"
12"MIX (RYTHM KING RECORDS)

"Well its saturday night and I was feeling kinda drunk, so I hadda beat up this little punk" is how this latest 12" from the master of sparse rap begins. If you are easily outraged, then this is not the record for you. Plenty of foul mouthing as usual and he now uses "live" drums and the funkiest 70's guitar licks. This record is really so different from the rest of the bunch. We expect it to be much copied in the future.

VOVOID."KILLING TECHNOLOGY"L.P.

Christ what a ripper! I was expecting some gruelling old warhorse album packed with worn out thrash metal cliches. I was so wrong....
Crushing attack on the senses by this band who obviously get pissed off mouthing cliches and have moved onto stimulating and untouched musical twilight zones. The equivelant of 2000ad on vinyl. Must be heard.
(NOISE INTERNATIONAL. P.O. BOX 110226 1000 BERLIN 11, WEST GERMANY)



VARIOUS"DIGGING THE WATER"L.P.

Well, by jove, this is the best sampler I've heard since PUSZONE"CLEANSING THE BACTERIA". Lot's of ripping tracks from around this lovely globe of ours. The best being the offerings by the DEPRAVED and DR + THE CRIPPENS. Well packaged and colourful sleeve. Crappist track award goes to E.N.T. as one of the singers sounds like Donald Duck...
(ACHE 3, MANIC EARS DOES IT AGAIN!!)

CRASH BOX"FINALE"L.P.

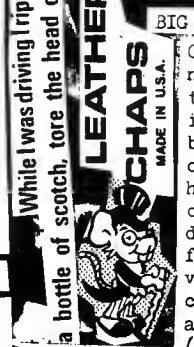
No, this wasnot very riviting, to start with the cover has a very bad picture of a semi-clothed female (with more than a passing resemelence to siouxsie...), very suspect. Then inside this italian outfit make a short album seem very long and tedious. Bad production, familiar tunes and yes, you've guessed it, heavy metal overtones. Not an album to put on your "must get or die" list.
(T.V.O.R, 804 COMO 5-22100 COMO, ITALY)

VICIOUS RUMOUR CLUB"WHOLE LOTTA LOVE"
12"mix. (RYTHM KING RECORDS)

If you dont like hip hop, electro funk whatever, then this record might just change your feeble old mind. A fun cover of Led Zeps "Whole lotta love" takes up both sides of this 12". Plenty of crunching guitar, hard drum work and bells stolen from L.L. COOL J. Really "rocky" in most parts and would appeal totally to a "BEASTIE BOYS" fan. Expect it to be a Top Ten hit!
(MUSIC OF LIFE RECORDS, NEW YORK)

BIG BLACK"ATOMIZER"L.P.

Great name for a band and even better name fo an album, wish I thought of that when I was a musco. The album is stark, sexy and somewhat gloomy, but don't be letting that put you off. Although not connected with hardcore punk, in a way this U.S. outfit sure put most acts around to deep shame. Check out the first track for total sleaze and power. They are very much like Killing Joke, but who cares, a good rip-off is better than a crap original.
(DUTCH EAST INDIA TRADIN', P.O. BOX 570 ROCKVILLE CTR. NY 570)



SHERWOOD"LIBERTE"L.P.

If you like punk rock old style, then this boys + girls is for you. 12 rock solid tunes here in the OI/CHAOS U.K./ Late70's vein. All very up front shouting and screaming, bad guitar solos and backing vocals chanted by tne hundreds. — LOVE IT!! Why dont more bands play this was called "Brigit". What a small weird, little world it is. So we hung around backstage drinking their beer and discussing the pros and cons of glue sniffing and acid until there very large minder, threw us out. Soon after, the band came on stage. We the audience, showered them with verbal abuse, which they seemed to really dig. Then we threw plastic glasses at them in such a crap manner that the band stopped playing and asked us to throw the glasses proper -ly. Unfortunately the tropis securi--ty, did not see the funny side and posted two mega-bouncers, right next to the stage throughout the gayes remaining set. The music? A mish-mash of the Doors, Zodiac Mindwarp and good old fashioned punk rock and far too many halluninagenic drugs. New age hip -pies, they most certainly were! Not as raunchy as I had expected, but they managed to get the hard to please locals dancing, so they must have an inkling of talent. Very snort set they did indeed play, and a strange choice of songs for an encore! "Victimised", the old Chaos UK song, kinda weird huh? The band had enough sassiness and style to make something of themselves in 1987, but fuck, do they have drug problems.....

WHAT IS THE

ESA

ENGLISH SKATEBOARD ASSOCIATION with music from the PIP 'N' JAY SINGERS and LINDA & JENNY

Yeah, what is tne English Skateboard Association? A cult london organisation? A secret brotherhood of top U.K. skaters or an undercover agency link to the sports council or the government?? Well, SM5D is gonna cut thru all the bullshit and spill the beans on this mysterious organisation! Yikes! Derry Thompson, cheif of staff at E.S.A. headquarters, has been interviewed by us. His answere are printed below. We hope this will untangle your tired little brains... .

Q. First of all, what is the E.S.A, and what purpose does it serve?
A. The ESA is tne 'governing body' for skateboarding in England. It's purpose is to promote and develop skateboarding. It does this by running contests, train -ing camps and publishing the newsletter.

Q. Who is it financed by and how does it run itself?
A. It's financed in part, by the Sports Council and, in part, by memoership fees. It's run by a commitee of elected officials 95I of whom are skaters and I00I of whom are all unpaid.

Q. Arent ASSOCIATIONS contrary to what most skaters are into e.g. individualism and anti-establishment?
A. Yes, but it's needed:-
a) To present an acceptable public face +
b) To co-ordinate on a national basis.

Q. How do you get to join?
A. Send us three quid.

Q. What do you get when youre joined up, in the way of benefits?
A. Not a lot. The newsletter, discounts, up to date info, but mainly the chance to help skating. The ESA's been there since '78, not many things in skating can say that.

Some killer wheels are:- BAT BONES - 90A CROSSBONES - 92A, OJII's - 97A, SLIME-BALLS - 92A, 97A, VISION BLURRS - 90A and STREET CUBICS.
Trucks; THUNDERS, TRACKERS, INDIE PENDANT STAGE I, II and V. (Don't buy stage III and IV as most of these crack and break after a bit of rough use.)

TIPS FOR JOLLY BARGAIN HUNTERS

Some shops will do Z-Blanks or Blank decks. If you want a good budget boards get yer self one of these. They are basically blankdecks, sold with no paint job or fancy graphics, they should retail for ten to twenty pounds, then you can be really creative and artistic and paint your own board. Also wheels with cosmetic defects (C.D's for snort) are sometimes available from good skatestores. C.D. means that either the print on the side was not up to standard, or that the colouring in the wheel is slightly faulty. If you see these, BUY THEM!! They are usually ten to fifteen quid a set, where as the "real" thing will be twice that price. There is nothing wrong with them in the slightest, so don't be put off by the word "defect". Bearings can be bought from bike shops, wholesale Bearings Warehouses and Car shops for about half the cost of skatestores. Make sure you bring an old bearing along to compare sizes.
